Futures juggling charged

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Idaho's richest man and two of his companies are charged by the Agriculture Department with illegally attempting to manipulate the Idaho potato futures market.

J. R. Simplot, Boise, and two Simplot firms were among five Idaho firms and individuals charged with manipulating futures trading on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange during the 1970-71 trading season.

The charges, if proven, suggest a mammoth battle between those attempting to raise prices and those attempting to lower prices.

The battle allegedly developed between Simplot's interests and numerous out of state interests.

Only the Simplot firms and Simplot were accused of trying to lower prices. The others are accused of trying to raise them.

As the market developed that year, the market went up.

Idaho firms and individuals named in the complaint, besides Simplot, were J. R. Simplot Co., Inc. Boise; Simplot Eastern Idaho Produce Co., Inc. Blackfoot; Harold Abend, Blackfoot; and Idaho Potato Packers of Idaho, Blackfoot.

In Boise, Simplot attorney Lloyd Haight said the firm had just received copies of the Commodity Exchange Authority charges, but had not had time to thoroughly review them.

He said he would have no comment at this time.

One Simplot corporate executive involved in the case but who would not be quoted said "we don't think there is any merit in the case."

In Twin Falls the reaction to the CEA's action was generally optimistic. One Twin Falls commodity broker said "I'm hopeful the regulatory action like this would tend to rebuild confidence in the market. Confidence was lost at the time of the (spring, 1971) squeeze." According to the broker, trading in Idaho potato futures had fallen sharply following the charges of market manipulation during the 1970-71 trading year. He said this year's trading had begun to rise again as confidence has been rebuilt.

According to Commodity Exchange statistics, the 1970-71 trading year saw 32,725 cars of Idaho potatoes traded.

Trading fell sharply the following year to only 7,250 cars — a decline to below one-fourth of the preceding year's trading.

Officials stressed in an announcement that the complaint brought under the Federal Commodity Exchange Act does not constitute proof that a violation actually occurred. A public hearing to air evidence and defense statements in the case will be scheduled later in Chicago, the department said.

The complaint alleges a number of large "long" traders, acting together, tried to raise the price of the May 1971, Idaho Potato Future. "Long" traders in commodity trading profit when prices rise.

The complaint also alleges that one large "short" trader tried to hold the price down.

If a government referee hearing the case should decide the complaint is proved, the department could issue orders banning these 17 respondents from trading on any contract futures markets for indefinite periods.

Others charged were: Peter J. Taggares of Othello, Wash.; P. J. Taggares Co., Othello, Wash.; Idaho Potato Packers Corp., Bronx, N. Y.; Chel Reddy Foods, Othello, Wash.; Kenneth L. Ramm, Othello, Wash.; Robert H. Abend, Bronx, N. Y.; Jacinto Packing Co., San Jacinto, Calif.; Agri-Empire, Inc., San Jacinto, Calif.; James Minor, San Jacinto, Calif.; Universal Land-Snake River, Peco, Wash.; Edward Spiegel, Pasco, Wash.; and Modie J. Spiegel, Chicago.

Dellinger cleared for Hanoi journey

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal appeals court has given last minute clearance for pacifist David Dellinger to head a delegation leaving for Hanoi tonight to pick up three American prisoners of war being released by North Vietnam.

Dellinger, who is free on bail following his conviction at the Chicago Seven conspiracy trial, was given permission Tuesday night by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago to travel outside the country, an associate reported today.

The delegation also includes Cora Weiss of the Committee of Liaison With Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam, which negotiated the POW release.

Hank heads for London

MOSCOW (UPI)—American presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger concluded three days of talks with Soviet leaders today and prepared to fly to London and Paris. He cancelled a sidetrip to Leningrad to have more time for the talks.

An American spokesman said a joint Kremlin-White House communiqué reviewing the talks probably will be issued late tonight or early Thursday. Kissinger is to leave Moscow by air Thursday morning for London, where he will brief British leaders on the outcome of his session in Moscow. On Friday he will make a similar report to French leaders before returning to Washington.

There were indications he could hold more secret talks in Paris with Le Duc Tho, senior North Vietnamese diplomat in Paris. En route to Moscow, Kissinger stopped in West Germany to confer with Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Nixon aides meet again

THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Nixon called in top aides today for more strategy discussions on his re-election campaign.

Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr., former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Nixon's campaign director, Clark MacGregor, joined the President for a dinner meeting at Camp David. Connally is head of the Democrats-for-Nixon organization and Mitchell is former head of the Nixon re-election committee who headed the President's campaign in 1968.

Arabs contend new raids due

By United Press International Egyptian newspapers said today Israel is preparing to launch new attacks against Lebanon and Syria. Lebanese Prime Minister Saeb Salam pledged his nation would fight an expected attack from Israel although he admitted Lebanon lacks the power "to fully repel Israeli aggression."

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said "It is clear now that Israel, while preparing to resume its aggression along the northern front (Syria and Lebanon), has the unlimited support of the United States."

Al-Ahram and another Cairo newspaper, Al-Akhar, said the U.S. veto in the United Nations means only one thing: "To give the justification of the Israeli aggression against Syria and Lebanon and provide a pretext for new acts of aggression Israel is preparing."

Salam, addressing a special session of parliament in Beirut Tuesday, said a "propaganda campaign" by Israel following the slaying of 11 members of its Olympic team in Munich by Arab guerrillas was aimed at "paving the way for the aggression which took place and possibly for a much larger aggression."

Israeli planes hit targets in Syria and Lebanon Friday. Salam said "We do not claim, and this is no secret, that we have the ability to fully repel Israeli aggression." But the Lebanese army has received orders to resist the successive aggressions with all its might, regardless of sacrifices."

He added that women and children were "slaughtered like sheep" in the Israeli air attacks and while "telegrams and telephone calls poured on Israeli expressing sympathy for Munich, we did not hear except from some leaders of friendly powers."

Enrollment gap in TF narrowing

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

enrollment remains at about the same level.

TWIN FALLS — First week enrollment in the Twin Falls School District is 121 below a year ago, but the gap is closing slightly.

Camden B. Meyer, assistant superintendent, said average daily attendance is off 134 for the first week this year compared to last year.

Total enrollment opening day was 6,281 in 1971 and 6,104 this year. The first week ended with 6,273 students this year and there were 6,304 at the same time a year ago.

Trustees of the district are watching enrollment figures closely in view of plans for a $3.3 million school building construction bond issue.

In a meeting Tuesday night, trustees said they feel the bond issue must continue as many of the district's buildings are old and need replacement even if

The district is also faced with the question of Washington School, which in a few years may need to be relocated because of highway improvement proposals. Supt. George Staudacher told the board the Idaho Department of Highways is not able now to say what exact highway plans will be or when the project will begin.

Edmond Peterson, architect, urged trustees to decide the question of Washington School before making final decisions on building plans and the bond issue.

Ruth Day, trustee and member of the subcommittee on bond issue, plans, said the district would be in a far more favorable position if it could retire the old portion of Lincoln School and possibly Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School.

Federal fund sharing passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To the fiscal relief of officials in 50 states and 38,700 towns, townships, cities and counties, both houses of Congress now have passed bills to share about $30 billion in federal revenue with local and state governments over the next five years.

But whether the legislation will live up to its backers' promises and decelerate local and state tax increases remains in doubt.

The billions provided from the federal treasury amounts to only a small fraction of what state and local governments spend and their spending in most places still trends upward.

The Senate adopted its bill by a vote of 63 to 20 Tuesday night. House approval of a different version occurred in June.

Now a House-Senate conference committee must meet to approve a compromise version which will get quick ratification from both chambers and be sent to President Nixon, who first broached the idea to Congress in August, 1969.

The Senate bill, reflecting rural strength in that body, is more generous to 33 rural states—at the expense of 17 urban states and the District of Columbia—than the House bill, where city strength is felt.

The likelihood is that the Senate's view will largely prevail in the compromise that finally emerges. Urban state senators complained in vain that the bill was "discriminatory" against their states.

Both bills provide $28.6 billion over five years. The first year grant is $5.3 billion. Two-thirds would be made available to county and local governments with the rest to be spent by state legislatures.

Panel may summon GOP aides

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., said today he would try to subpoena Maurice Stans and John N. Mitchell to testify on the break-in of Democratic headquarters in the wake of a critical report by the staff of his House Banking Committee on fundraising for President Nixon.

The report said Stans, finance chairman of Nixon's re-election committee, acknowledged Sept. 5 that he approved secret transfer of at least $100,000 through Mexican banks to the Nixon campaign.

Liedtke, chief southwest fundraiser for Nixon, told investigators Stans had approved the Mexican transfer on April 3.

A total of $29,000 of the $100,000 which came through Mexico eventually reached the bank account of Bernard L. Barker, one of five suspects in the alleged bugging incident June 17, the report said.

The report said the staff was unable to determine who donated the money, but it could have come from illegal contributions if any of the money was from foreign nationals.

The 88-page report and a cover letter from Patman were made available to committee members Tuesday. A committee member provided portions of the report to UPI. Patman said in an interview today that in light of the staff findings he would ask the committee to subpoena Stans and Mitchell, former attorney general who was director of Nixon's campaign committee at the time of the June 17 break-in. He also said he would propose public hearings in the case.

Five men were arrested in the Democratic offices, and were said to have had bugging equipment with them. They have been sued by the Democratic party which this week added Stans and three other persons formerly connected with the Nixon re-election committee as defendants.

Patman had intended to open closed hearings about the incident Thursday with Stans as a witness, but said the former commerce secretary declined to appear. Presumably, for this reason Patman decided to try to "make him appear under subpoena."

Patman said it was possible the committee would vote to subpoena other witnesses besides Stans and Mitchell, "but we won't mention further witnesses at this time."

Patman said the hearings would concentrate on the transfer of Nixon campaign funds through Mexico and the granting of a charter to a bank whose incorporators included Dwayne Andreas of Minneapolis. Andreas contributed $25,000 to the Nixon campaign, and his $25,000 was also said to have been traced to the Miami bank account of Barker.

The Banking Committee staff report said $700,000 was taken to the Nixon re-election committee by Roy Winchester, vice president of public relations for the Pennzoil United Corp. April 5, two days before the new campaign disclosure law took effect.

Most of the money was raised in Texas, the report said, but $100,000 came through Mexican banks including the funds which eventually went to Barker. "Indications are that $100,000 came out of Mexico in one chunk."

Stays mum

REPORTED to have admitted his part in June 17 break-in at Democratic Party headquarters in Washington, D.C., was Bernard L. Barker. He said he would rather serve long prison term instead of implicating others in the affair. (UPI)

Board pares tax levy for TF school district

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school taxes will fall this year, according to estimates by school officials.

School officials, banking on an increased assessment for the district, expect to raise needed revenues with a significant reduction in local taxes.

According to district business manager J. T. Anderson, the district will tax an estimated total of 35.822 mills this year, compared to 40.303 mills last year.

After changes in assessment ratios are considered, this would mean that school taxes on a $10,000 home would fall from $24.7 last year to $36.52 this year — a drop of $6.05 in one year.

The drop would amount to 2.7 per cent.

Anderson told members of the school board Tuesday night the district's assessed valuation is estimated at about $30 million up from $27.4 million last year, which will allow for some increased revenue.

Anderson said he submitted an amount of $1.075 million to the county which will require 35.822 mills on the $30 million assessed valuation, compared to 40.303 mills last year.

The three-mill emergency levy the school required last year has been dropped, Anderson said, and the bond redemption levy can go down as bond payments have been reduced.

Bond redemption last year required a 4.196 levy and this year will probably be down to 3.607 mills, he said.

Final assessed valuation for the year is not determined until December and levies are set at this time on anticipated figures.

Board members heard a report by Ted Dunston of the Seventh Day Adventist Church on his private church school which he operates in his home.

He requested approval by the district, which George Staudaher, superintendent, said would mean the district would have responsibility for the health, safety and welfare of the children attending the private school. Board members voted to "acknowledge" the private school after reviewing the credentials of the instructor.

Trustees discussed repairs for boilers at the Twin Falls High School and the possibility of converting from coal to gas at the time of repairs. Staudaher said it would be less expensive to operate with gas than coal, but conversion would cost about $8,200.

Coal costs for the high school last year ran $15,000, he said. Gas costs for Robert Stuart Junior High School and the administration building ran $6,592, but he said there is a space difference. No action was taken on the conversion, pending further discussion. In some areas, it was pointed out, gas shortages are becoming a problem.

Trustee Ruth Day announced plans for a citizen's meeting Sept. 20 at 8 p.m. in the O'Leary Junior High School. She said the meeting is open to the public and it is hoped persons interested in improving schools in the Twin Falls district will attend.

The meeting will be to discuss plans for the proposed school bond issue and selecting citizen committee leaders. Board members selected Idaho First National Bank to act as fiscal agent.

Idaho First National and First Security Bank submitted proposals for handling fiscal duties in connection with the bond issue. Proposals were almost identical with the fiscal agent cost running 12.234 cents per $100 on the bond issue.

Trustees received audit reports on the three secondary schools in the system. Supt. Staudaher said there were no problems and all three schools received a good report.

Camden B. Meyer, assistant superintendent, announced plans for a one-day teacher institute here Oct. 6.

He said the school decided to change the annual two-day institute to a one-day program but the state has set up sessions in various parts of the state for various levels of teaching which will mean many of the district teachers will be leaving for the out-of-town meetings.

What this will mean for the local program, he said, is not yet known but some type of special program will be held in Twin Falls, he said.

Board of Education and county commissioners throughout the state to hike property taxes to make up for the money lost at the state level.

Kimber Ricks, Rexburg, told delegates and officers of Legislative District 28 that Andrus has caused property tax increases throughout the state by executive order.

He referred to Andrus' cut-back in general fund spending. This, he said, forces the State to make up for the money lost at the state level.

McClure attacks gun laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Senate hopeful James A. McClure calls recent gun control legislation by the Senate a dangerous step toward the total disarming of Americans.

He urged Idahoans Tuesday to use Sept. 23, "National Hunter and Fisherman Day," to express opposition to federal gun controls.

"No one has been penalized more by strict and unconstitutional federal gun controls than our law-abiding sportsmen," McClure said.

City parks director seeks sod

TWIN FALLS — Howard Johnson, Twin Falls City parks director, is hoping a number of city residents will be putting in patios and driveways this fall.

He needs the sod and asks residents who may be tearing out lawn for construction or additions to their homes to call him. He said the sod is needed in city parks around baseball diamonds and other areas where wear is heavy during the summer months.

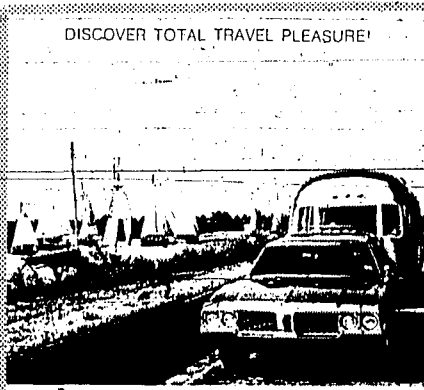

Persons willing to donate sod may reach Johnson at City Hall 733-0860. He said city crews will remove the sod at no charge, and haul it to a city park.

TF zoning variance approved

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners Tuesday approved a request for zoning variance by Paul Welch to allow for storage of heavy construction equipment.

The request was for property Welch owns near Grandview Drive, west of the city. It is presently zoned agricultural-residential, which would not allow for storage of heavy equipment although the equipment is presently housed there.

Ed Woods, county zoning administrator, said the land includes a natural ravine which screens the equipment from view.

McGovern The Mollifier

HOUSTON — "What the hell is he doing here?" grumbled an engineer at Houston's Manned Space Center watching Sen. George McGovern on a guided tour. "I suppose he's going to do a '180' on space too."

Thirty minutes later, McGovern flirted with just such a 180-degree turn away from his adamant anti-space spending policy. Telling unemployed space technicians "I believe in the space program," McGovern added he wanted unmanned, not manned, spacecraft. But, he went on, Dr. Chris Kraft of the Manned Space Center had revealed to him that the new space shuttle is needed, manned or unmanned. Thus, did McGovern, having denounced the space shuttle all year, suggest he might reconsider.

That suggestion, an impromptu notion of McGovern's not discussed with advisers, fits into his post-Labor Day campaigning: court voting blocs alienated by his past policies, telling them what they want to hear. That's in the American political tradition but nevertheless deeply disturbing to many ardent McGovernites. Moreover, McGovern's emphasis on mollifying estranged voter bloc contributes to timelessness in his campaign. And although he escaped last week from the August doldrums with his best speeches in months, there is still no sign his campaign is cutting significantly into President Nixon's immense lead.

The reason for McGovern's emphasis on appeasing critics derives from his unique nomination. In the face of hostility from substantial elements in the Democratic party. Accordingly, his strategy is to devote September to winning back enough disaffected Democrats to launch an effective October drive against Mr. Nixon.

Thus, when McGovern came to Los Angeles last week, his high command in Washington ordered some "Jewish event" to fight leakage of Southern California Jews out of the Democratic party into Mr. Nixon's arms. McGovern's California operatives hastily arranged a Wednesday morning meeting with Los Angeles rabbis — by chance coming the day after the Olympic Village tragedy.

Consulting Jewish advisers back East over the telephone Tuesday night, McGovern developed a position President Nixon cannot match: no diplomatic relations with Egypt until Cairo restrains Arab terrorists who are not under Egyptian control anyway.

McGovern, told that the rabbis distrusted his preference for Sen. J. W. Fulbright as Secretary of State, promptly informed them Fulbright's pro-Arab views now disqualified him. Naturally, he did not mention that his own Mideast views once closely resembled Fulbright's.

Later Wednesday morning, addressing the machinists' union convention, McGovern drew his biggest applause by suggesting protection of American products (though, as a free trader, he opposes the Hartke-Burke tariff bill). Forewarned that few machinists are doves, he omitted his usual anti-Vietnam pronouncement.

Arriving in Dallas Wednesday night, McGovern dropped his habitual denunciation of oil millionaires and added praise of Lyndon B. Johnson. In Houston Thursday, while saying space spending should drop to $2 billion from $3.2 billion, he made the breathtaking promise of another job for every unemployed aerospace worker (programmed) plus his hinted softening on the space shuttle (unprogrammed).

Such conventional political trimming has generated protests from McGovernite ideologues including Gary Hart, head of McGovern's national organization) that this is not the George McGovern of the primaries — blaming it on advice from McGovern aide Frederick G. Dutton. Though a leading theoretician of the New Politics, Dutton believes McGovern must first woo back Democratic defectors.

That course, however, fogs McGovern's intended theme of embracing the beleaguered little man. More comfortable with Vietnam as an issue anyway, McGovern was so busy last week buttering up rabbis, labor leaders and aerospace workers that he failed to focus on fat cats living on tax-deductible high life thanks to President Nixon.

Pollution Job

Cooperation between industry and government is making slow but steady progress against solid waste pollution.

According to the National Center for Resource Recovery in Washington, programs sponsored by industry are giving strong impetus to the recycling movement throughout the country. Substantial increases have been reported in the volume of steel, glass, paper and aluminum recovered from municipal trash for reversion into basic materials or other uses that conserve natural resources.

Latest figures show that 17 cities alone are salvaging used steel, or "tin," cans by magnetic separation at the rate of 2.5 billion a year.

Admittedly, this is only a small fraction of the 60 billion cans produced annually, but indications are that salvage operations will be accelerated in the years ahead.

R. Thomas Willson, senior vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, estimates that municipal and regional systems will be recovering more than five billion steel cans annually by 1975. Already, some cities employing magnetic separation systems are reclaiming 36 per cent of all used steel cans in their localities.

Similar progress is noted in the glass container industry, where some 900 million of the 36 billion bottles and jars in household refuse were retrieved last year. This figure will be doubled when just one new plant, recently commissioned in North Hempstead, N. Y., goes into operation.

Even so, most communities now rely on sanitary landfills to get rid of their solid waste and will continue to rely on them for the foreseeable future. Suitable sites are becoming increasingly expensive and remote from centers of population, and are coming under increasing fire from environmentalists.

Of the 12,000 land disposal sites — more commonly known as garbage dumps — the Public Health Service has declared 94 per cent of them "unacceptable and representing disease potential, threat of pollution and land blight."

Now there's professional help available here, too.

National Environmental Controls, Inc. (NEC), one of the nation's oldest and largest companies in this field, and ecology advisory and management program" to aid states, municipalities and private contractors with the problems of landfill operations.

These problems include the depletion of dumping sites, failure to meet ecological and pollution standards, equipment selection and maintenance, computerization of services, labor disputes and coordination among neighboring communities.

NEC presently operates the largest private landfill site in the country, in Jefferson Parish, La., which has been called a showplace for the industry.

Nonsalvageable refuse is shredded, milled and compacted and then dumped in trenches scooped out by bulldozers. It is then covered with seven or eight feet of earth. Over a period of about 25 years and with a little help from Mother Nature, it is converted into normal soil.

Experts predict that by the year 2000, solid waste disposal will surpass crime, national defense and civil rights as the nation's No. 1 problem. It is a massive and complex problem, with no one solution or one best way.

It is encouraging to report, however, that solutions — plural — are being developed. If there is cause for concern, there is also cause for optimism.

Call to the Faithful

ART BUCHWALD

Au Revoir, Voters

WASHINGTON — Every four years 40 to 50 million Americans vow that if their man doesn't win the Presidency, they will move to Canada.

This year is no different, and I have heard many of my dearest friends say, "If McGovern is elected, I'm taking the family to Canada." Or if Nixon gets in for another four years, I'm leaving the country.

The trouble with these threats is that the Canadians take them seriously. Since they are so short on population, the idea of 40 or 50 million new immigrants makes their mouths water.

The Canadians start building new homes and schools to accommodate the disenfranchised American voters. Shopping centers are constructed, contracts are given out for drive-in theaters and motels.

The Canadians repaint all their buildings and touch up their lawns to make the Americans feel at home.

Night classes are given on how to treat the new arrivals. Welcome Wagons are beefed up and new factories are built to provide jobs for the millions of Democrats or Republicans who say they cannot live in the United States under a Communist Democratic or Fascist Republican regime.

To facilitate the move, Canadian customs officials are told not to open any luggage of American emigrants. Canadian Mounties are instructed to go easy on traffic tickets.

No expense is spared in preparing for the influx of people.

But what inevitably happens is that after the election the 40 or 50 million people who vowed they would go to Canada change their minds and remain in the United States to stick it out under "That Man in the White House."

I saw it happen when John Kennedy beat Nixon. I saw it happen again when Lyndon Johnson beat Barry Goldwater, and again in 1968 when Richard Nixon defeated Hubert Humphrey.

Canada was waiting with welcoming arms for all the people who said they couldn't live in the United States any more.

Nobody came. All the hopes and dreams of the Canadians to double their population overnight vanished, but it left a taste of bitterness that lingers on.

The greatest cause of anti-American feelings in Canada can be attributed to our presidential election-year promises which people in this country have failed to keep.

How long can the Canadians keep building up their country, for people who promise to go there and then refuse to go?

At the moment Canada is in a terrible quandary. The ambassador in Washington has reported that 45 million Republicans have vowed to go to Canada if George McGovern becomes President of the United States. He has also reported that surveys indicate that 40 million Democrats will come if Nixon stays in the White House.

Canada must decide in the next few weeks whether to go through the motions of preparing for them or to ignore these vows as idle threats. Suppose this time all the people who say they're going to Canada really do? Yet suppose the Canadians spend all the money and nobody shows up?

It seems to me it's incumbent on every American voter not to say he's going to Canada unless he really means it. If he is sincere about it, he should notify the Canadian immigration authorities.

I know it's hard to ask people at the height of an election campaign not to make threats they have no intention of keeping about moving out of the country. All I'm suggesting is that if you want to tell someone you're leaving after the election, tell them you're going to France, where they don't care if you come or not.

Good Try

WASHINGTON — The Senate-approved military pay recomputation plan foundered in the closed-door conference with the House for two reasons:

(1) Detailed figures produced by the House conferees showing that the Senate proposal would cost some $4 billion more than the formula backed by the Administration and still awaiting consideration by either chamber. The Senate plan, sponsored by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., chairman of the Veterans Committee, was approved 82 to 4 as an amendment to the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

(2) The unyielding opposition of the powerful chairmen of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the former, opposed and voted against the Hartke amendment when it was considered by the Senate. Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House committee, has publicly said he is against recomputation at this time, but before the Senate voted, he did appoint a special subcommittee to hold hearings on the long-pending recomputation issue it has yet to meet.

Hebert proposed the face-saving compromise under which the Senate conferees agreed to ditch the Hartke amendment in return for both conference committees joining in recommending that hearings be held on recomputation legislation.

This so-called "compromise" is meaningless as far as this session of Congress is concerned.

And even if the committees go through the motions of holding a few meetings, nothing will come of them.

The reason is very simple: the legislators are preoccupied with the election campaign and have neither the time nor inclination to tackle the thorny, complex and explosive problem of recomputation.

So the prospects of hearings this year are negligible. Next year, when a new (93rd) Congress convenes, may be a different story. The outcome of the election will importantly affect that. But for this year, the conference committees' face-saving compromise is no more than that.

Currently, time is operating potentially against recomputation. Senate and House leaders want to wind up the session by the first week in October — so members can go back home to reelection. The leaders know full well that if Congress doesn't formally shut down, members will go home anyway — especially those tough reelection contests.

That raises the risk of a lack of quorum, which in turn means a forced adjournment.

Under these circumstances, holding committee hearings on recomputation is decidedly remote. And should by any chance a meeting be held, there is virtually no likelihood of anything coming of it.

Sen. Hartke's amendment was a good try, but it came too late to do anything.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Virginity?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am about to be married. My fiancé and I had a serious argument. He reads your column and would believe you.

He has been told that a virgin has a very tough skin that has to be slit open by a doctor before her wedding night.

I feel that, because I won't go to a doctor for this reason, he now thinks I'm not a virgin.

This may not seem a serious problem to others, but it is very serious here. — W. J. M.

Your fiancé is misinformed, but not as much as is the case with some bridegrooms who insist that their brides be virgins.

Here are the facts. The entrance to the vagina originally is covered with a membrane called the hymen. Except in the rarest cases, this membrane is perforated with one or several small holes in it, and varying greatly in size.

The texture of the hymen also varies from one extreme to the other — very thin and fragile to quite thick and tough. An intact hymen is proof of virginity — but the contrary is not true.

That is, if the hymen is not intact, it still is not proof that a woman is not a virgin. Why not? Because a fragile hymen may be ruptured by some trivial occurrence even in early childhood. Or the hymen may be thin enough so that it merely stretches instead of rupturing and causing discernible bleeding.

If a girl has had the hymen ruptured when she was a child, or if she has a very thin stretchy one that does not bleed, she has no way of "proving" that she is a virgin. This has caused all sorts of uproar and unhappiness in those cases in which the bridegroom was insistent on "proof of virginity" yet didn't know the facts.

All she can do is tell him she's a virgin and expect him to take her word for it. And after all, what proof does HE have to offer, except to expect her to accept HIS word?

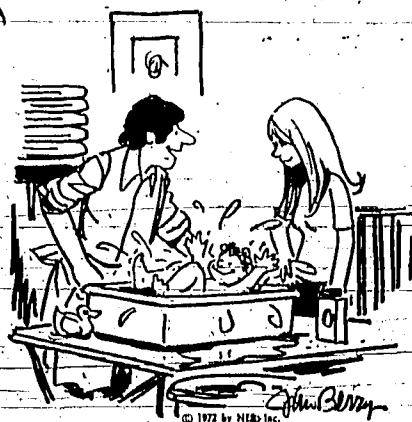

At the other extreme, occasionally a hymen is so thick and tough that the only recourse is to have a doctor cut through it — a very simple procedure, by the way. It can happen that way, but it is seldom necessary.

On that basis, I dare say you can decide what to do. My suggestion is that you just let nature take its course, as women have been doing all through history.

A visit to the doctor is wise for quite other reasons, however: to determine your general health, perhaps get some reliable information on pregnancy or birth control if you want or need it.

Dr. Thosteson is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column.

BERRY'S WORLD

"How about THIS—another Mark Spitz?"

Munich's Record

Over the years the Olympic games have had their problems. There have been individual contestants and entire teams which demonstrated poor sportsmanship. Judges have been attacked as unfair. Questions of improper government subsidy have arisen.

But if ever an Olympic contest was held which compared to the bizarre series of incidents this year, it missed the record books. Reports of biased judging in boxing were followed by the summary firing of six unnamed boxing officials. Similar charges were raised about some of the gymnastic events, but these went unanswered.

The entire question of judges from countries like the Soviet Union where the officials are employees of the state and thus subject to considerable pressure remains unresolved.

These questions paled by comparison to the Rhodesian issue, in which a participating country was expelled — not because it violated any of the rules — but because it was not liked by some of its neighbors back home. On top of this came the Arab terrorist invasion of the quarters of Israel athletes, the temporary suspension of the games and the voluntary withdrawal of at least one team.

Records were made at Munich, on and off the playing field.

Whose Bag?

A group called Americans in Paris for McGovern is harnessing tourist power on behalf of the Democratic candidate for president.

The organization, composed of Americans living in France, hopes to enroll as roving emissaries for George McGovern many of the one million Americans who will visit France this year.

The heart of the drive, a variation of the traditional bumper sticker campaign, is the distribution at such popular tourist meccas as Orly Airport and the Eiffel Tower of luggage stickers and lapel buttons bearing slogans proclaiming "J'aime McGovern," "Vivre McGovern" and "McGovern Is My Bag."

"The tourist is the most visible and mobile American citizen to be found," says Eugenia Wilds, a cochairman of the group. "Very few tourists bring autos with them, but they all carry suitcases, briefcases and flight bags. And George McGovern will be riding right along with the voter."

It's a clever idea, and a good thing that Senator McGovern is a man. Imagine the howls from the women's libbers if a lady candidate for president, which no doubt there will someday be, were to be called anybody's "bag."

Rice questions Andrus position

BOISE (UPI) — State Rep. Edward W. Rice, R-Boise, Tuesday questioned the soundness of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' calculations of state revenues.

He noted the governor's statement of Sept. 9 that July withholding taxes were down 28 per cent from the same month in 1971.

He said in July 1971 withholding tax collections were based on quarterly returns and the collections this year are on a monthly basis.

"It is incumbent upon Governor Andrus to avoid distortion of the true facts of Idaho's 1972 economy by making projections or comparisons based on taxes collected on a quarterly basis in 1971 whereas 1972 taxes are collected on a monthly basis," Rice also said until the governor has presented figures based on the 1972 actual collections supported by monthly tax collections, he is not justified in maintaining the 1.0 per cent holdback on general fund spending.

Forest control

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Land Board has directed land Commissioner Gordon Trombley to prepare for action a policy whereby timber buyers will finance erosion control in state forests.

Board members told Trombley to prepare the policy position for presentation at the October meeting. They agreed that prevention of erosion by abandoned and little-used timber access roads is necessary.

Public Instruction Supt. D. F. Engelking said he felt timber access roads should be made impassable after their use.

Andrus 'on map'

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's official state highway map next year will carry a photograph of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus along with a message from him to motorists and new residents.

Members of the Idaho Highway Board viewed a mock-up of the 1973 map during a meeting Tuesday and gave their approval. Lloyd Barron, Fairfield, the lone Republican on the board, voted against it — saying "political advertising" was involved.

Meantime, the board approved a realignment of the one-way couplet for Idaho Highway 45 in Nampa.

Under the realignment, the couplet would route one-way southbound traffic from the intersection of 11th Avenue South and Third Street on Third Street South to 12th Avenue South.

North bound traffic would start at Third Street South and 12th Avenue South and extend on 12th Avenue South to Second Street South as a two-way street.

Davis asks cooperation Eagle killers convicted, fined

MONTPELIER (UPI) — Senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis called Tuesday for interstate cooperation to solve water pollution problems of the Bear Lake drainage and warned of the disastrous effects a Republican take-over of the Senate could have on the water resources of the area.

Campaigning here, Davis said planning zoning commissioners from counties in Idaho and Utah should combine in planning an engineering study of the feasibility of an area-wide sewer system.

"It must be emphasized that the cost of such a system should not be borne by the individual home owner," Davis said.

The Pocatello Democrat also noted that if the Republicans gain control of the Senate, Henry Jackson of Washington would be replaced as Senate interior chairman by Gordon Allot of Colorado, since chairmanship falls with the party in control.

Davis said Allot represents one of the southwest states which would like to combine with California and Arizona to siphon off northwest water from such places as the Bear River drainage.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Two Utah men were convicted Tuesday in U. S. District Court of killing golden eagles over a Wyoming ranch. Both were fined $200.

Clifford O. Sidwell, 46, had been charged with four counts of shooting the protected birds. He pleaded guilty and was fined on one count and given suspended sentences on three counts.

Sidwell's companion, Donald Vince Rostron, 44, was charged with two counts, fined on one and had the other sentence suspended. Both men were placed on six months probation by Judge Ewing T. Kerr.

The charges against the Murray, Utah men dated from December, 1970. They were the last of the "gunners" to be tried for shooting eagles in the federal indictment against Casper rancher, Herman Werner.

Werner owns the Bolton ranch near Saratoga, where the shootings took place.

Journalist named

BOISE (UPI) — John Barclay, editor for the past two years of the Idaho Register, has been named communications and press director of the Idaho Committee for the Re-Election of the President, William S. Campbell, Idaho campaign chairman, announced Tuesday.

Barclay, who served as press secretary for Robert E. Smylie's campaign for the U. S. Senate, has worked for the Register, a statewide Catholic newspaper, since 1965.

Ludlow calls for end of US spying

MONTPELIER (UPI) — Willis Ludlow, Democratic candidate for the second congressional seat, said Tuesday that government spying on American citizens has gone on too long and threatens to squelch the inalienable freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

"The Watergate incident is not an accident, but its discovery is the exception that proves the rule," he said.

"While the Nixon administration keeps secrets from the Congress and the American people, it has demonstrated time and again its willingness to sneak and pry into the private lives and affairs of individual citizens."

Grant-in-aids overhaul asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, Tuesday called for an overhaul in the present grant-in-aids system as an alternative to revenue sharing.

In a speech before the Senate, the 72-year-old legislator said H. R. 14370, the general revenue sharing bill, would not do the job it is intended to do, "and the results could be most detrimental to the federal system."

Pointing to estimates that the federal funds deficit for the current fiscal year will be at least $38 billion and will be near or exceed a deficit of $100 billion since fiscal 1971, Jordan said, "There is no money to share."

Indians have day

BOISE (UPI) — Indian dancers, singers and tribal chairmen from throughout the state will participate in ceremonies next Tuesday to declare Sept. 29 as "Indian Day" in Idaho.

It will mark the first time a day has been officially designated in honor of the state's Indian population. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will officiate during the festivities at the statehouse.

Clearwater work starts

LEWISTON (UPI) — Removal work on a local landmark, the old Washington Water Power Dam on the Clearwater River, has started.

The dam has been pumping out its 10,000 kilowatts of electricity almost every hour since it was put on the line 46 years ago.

McGovern bids for Spanish-Americans

ESPANOLA, N.M. (UPI)—Spanish speaking Americans are large enough minorities in a half dozen key states so as to be able to make the difference in a close election, and now Sen. George S. McGovern has bid for their votes.

McGovern drew the largest audience of his presidential campaign Sunday in New Mexico's rolling sagebrush country and told the crowd: "The time is long overdue for America to bring you into the mainstream of opportunity in this land."

McGovern backed up his plea with an "Agenda: Spanish-American" listing five points and 22 specific steps to bring them what he called a "better day."

He called for full-funding of bilingual education programs, aggressive recruitment and promotion of Latinos in the federal civil service and guarantees for fuller participation of Latinos in the voting process and jury selections. He also opposed legislation that would restrict unionization of farm workers.

Spanish-speaking persons make up 15 per cent of the population in Texas, 9 per cent in California, 4 in New York, about 4 in Illinois, 20 per cent in New Mexico and 15 in Arizona. These six states have 170 electoral votes; to win President Nixon or McGovern must get at least 270.

Nixon has courted them through the appointment of about 45 Latinos to high positions including Romano Manuella as U.S. Treasurer and Phillip V. Sanchez as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity. He also has channeled millions of dollars to projects for the Spanish-speaking.

But Chicanos say the administration has concentrated on the upper- and middle-class Latinos and has not gone into the barrios of the ordinary Latino.

Traditionally only about 7 per cent of the Spanish-speaking vote for the GOP, although the party hopes to get about 20 per cent for Nixon this year.

But the browns vote in fewer numbers proportionally than the whites and the blacks—only about 50 per cent.

In a face-to-face confrontation in August, the Latino caucus of the Democratic National Committee presented McGovern and his running mate, Sargent Shriver, a long series of demands.

Among other things, they asked for fair representation at every level of McGovern's campaign. He promised to give it to them, but a spokesman Sunday could not name one Chicano added to the national staff.

For his Sunday rally, McGovern and Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., a Chicano, chose Rio Arriba County where Reyes Lopez Tijerina gained fame a few years ago by seizing the court house in Tierra Amarra in support of Chicano claims for old Spanish land grants.

Cars were lined up for miles, and Montoya said that on the basis of four passengers per auto, 50,000 were present. Officers thought it was more like 15,000.

A mariachi band introduced the nominee to shouts of "viva McGovern." McGovern called the crowd "mis amigos."

McGovern charged that despite Nixon's 16-point program, only 2.0 per cent of civil service employees are Latinos, mostly lower-grade.

He said that Latinos own only 1 per cent of the nation's businesses, mostly corner groceries.

"For too many of your brothers and sisters, you know that jobs and justice alike are out of reach," McGovern said. "If you have a Spanish surname you have learned that the census bureau counts bathtubs, television sets and cars, but they don't count you."

"You see your language rejected in too many schools. You see your talents restricted to back-breaking labor. And above all, you know that the shame of prejudice still cripples your lives."

"But there's a better day coming," McGovern said.

TF youth sentenced

TWIN FALLS — Steven Wayne Threlkeld, 21, Twin Falls, was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail when he appeared in magistrate court Monday.

Threlkeld entered a plea of guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident. Judge Daniel Meehl pronounced sentence.

Threlkeld was charged with the two counts following an Aug. 17 accident involving his automobile and three motorcyclists, members of the Brothers Speed Cycle Club of Boise.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Shoshone Street and Second Avenue West.

be sure—are beginning to work in behalf of the Democratic presidential nominee.

The labor chiefs are fearful that Nixon's popularity might jeopardize the Democratic grip on the legislature. One state AFL-CIO official said "we're going to lose everything we've fought for" if Nixon carries Pennsylvania and his controls prove long enough for the GOP to grab the legislature.

Nixon strategists concede that the President's present lead likely will be reduced before Nov. 7, what with a 300,000 Democratic registration advantage in the state, but they contend the erosion will not be heavy. The Democrats admit McGovern is behind but, hopeful of belated labor backing, they see a steady climb by their standard bearer.

"The traditional Democratic votes will return home by election day," said Vick French, McGovern's state coordinator. He noted Hubert H. Humphrey was nearly as far behind in the state in September, 1968, but won by 170,000 votes.

Miners seek rules

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United Mine Workers have alerted all locals to pressure the Interior Department to issue new regulations requiring safety chambers and cabs or canopies in all underground coal mines.

The safety chamber would provide a sealed, ventilated haven in which miners could wait out an underground fire. Cabs and canopies would provide steel shelters to protect equipment operators from roof collapses.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is a very good rule of bidding which is that you don't double a forcing bid unless you are sure of two things. The first is that you can defeat that contract; the second, that the information given by your double will help your partner, not your opponents.
West, a player in our rubber bridge game, really thought that his opponents were in trouble and it never occurred to him that South was going to make his two-heart contract.
Thus, when everyone passed his double he opened the king of diamonds and sat back to watch South try to wriggle off the hook.
South did quite a job of wriggling. He took the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, led a heart to his ace, took a short look at the ceiling, came to the conclusion that West held either 5-5-3-0 or 5-4-4-0 distribution and proceeded to give West the full treatment.

He led the jack of diamonds. West took his queen and led a spade. South cashed dummy's top spades and diamonds to get rid of two clubs. Then he ruffed dummy's last spade and led his last club.
West had to trump his partner's trick and lead away from his queen of hearts to let South make two overtricks.
What would have happened if West hadn't doubled? North would have bid something. If North and South reached a no-trump game they would make it but they would probably wind up playing some sort of part score.

A—Pass or bid two hearts. It all depends on what sort of bidder your partner is. If he is likely to bid again, you had best pass.

A Lovelier You SHAPERS CONTOUR WITH EASE

By Mary Sue Miller

New undershapers mold the body with soft but firm support. You will hardly know you wear one. But your clothes will fit and hang like custommades. Let's exemplify:
• To shape the top under. Sweaters and Knits. Molded bras with no seams to show; body-flexing, double knit "Sportie" bras; smooth crepe underwire lifts; Vassar-knit cup bottoms for comfort and fit.
• Strategies for Pants and Skirts. Briefs with tummy control and knit bands for unobstructed movement; waist-to-knee panties smooth hips and thighs.
• In the Dress Depart. Airy embroidery in soft shaped bras and panties; princess line in non-eling slips for wear under daytime chemises or fitted shirtwaists.
• In the Glamour Department. Quintessence demibras and decollete slips for no-show effects with plunging necklines and bare back.
• Long and Short-of-it. Half slips in short and (at last) long lengths.
• Body Shirts. From Ascot tailored in crepe to rib boucle with turtle neck to low scoop, ruffled satin.
• Fashion-Colors. There's golden haze, nude, brown and gray pearl, black, plum, amethyst, winter navy, china blue, wintergreen, pastel red.
Coordination with outerwear thus becomes more than ever possible and makes for great looks. And that wonderful put-together feeling.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the world's biggest klutz. This is fairly unusual because I am a 10-year-old girl, and I should have passed thru this stage when I was 13 or 14, but I didn't.

I trip over my own feet, drop things, bang my head getting in and out of cars, hit my arm going thru a door, and I've even broken a couple of toes running past the coffee table.

The worst part is my mother. She is always yelling at me because I'm so clumsy. Abby, I'm not this way on purpose. How can I make my mother understand this? Please print this for her to see. Also, if there are others who are going thru the same thing it might help them to know they are not alone.

WORLD'S KLUTZIEST GIRL

Poise, please!

DEAR GIRL: Don't accept your awkwardness with such grace. Quit rushing around and try to develop some poise. "Poise" is simply being aware of what you are doing. I think of yourself as a beautiful, graceful young woman, and you'll move like one. Try it. You'll like it. And so will your mother.

DEAR ABBY: My son is marrying a girl who was married before. I don't hold that against her, but she had a big church wedding and reception the first time, and now she wants another big wedding. She wants to invite all the people she had to her first wedding to her second wedding. I say that is not right because all those people have given her an expensive gift and she shouldn't expect them to give her another one.

Many of the people in our family went to her first wedding. I say she should keep it down and have an intimate family wedding. Right or wrong? My son agrees with me, but he will tell the girl how he feels about it after we hear from you.

GROOM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It's three against one. You, your son, and I against the bride. [P. S. Make that FOUR against one. I just consulted the High Priestess of Etiquette, and Amy votes with us.]

DEAR ABBY: Danny and I have been married for nearly a year. He travels, and I go with him. We went together for a year before we got married, and during that time he used to tell me about this girl and that girl with whom he was having a heavy romance, or a one-night stand. Anyway, he got around plenty before he married me. What bothers me, Abby, is that Danny keeps wanting to introduce me to these old girl friends of his. I met two of them and was very uncomfortable with them, knowing what the past had been. [One is married now, and even in the presence of her husband she flirted openly with mine.]

I put my foot down when Danny wanted me to spend an evening with another old flame. We had a big fight about it. Danny said I was childish. I said he was just trying to make me jealous. He said if he had cared about any of them he would have married THEM—not me. I am all confused. Am I being childish to rebel against meeting those girls with whom my husband has been intimate?

DANNY'S MIXED-UP WIFE

DEAR WIFE: NO! He's childish to expect you to.

Banks distribute welfare checks?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal welfare officials are considering possible national use of an experiment that distributes welfare aid through banks to avoid the theft of checks from the mails.

The plan has won enthusiastic endorsement from recipients, bankers and welfare officials in Philadelphia and in Nassau County, N.Y., where it has been tried, with variations, among selected groups, said Ludwig Guckenhimer, of the Federal Assistance Payments Administration.

New York City and Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Pa., are considering similar experiments.

"I think they have very good promise for national application," Guckenhimer said today.

In an interview, "We will probably develop a guide booklet with general principles for the states to follow if they are interested in such a program."

This agency is a unit of the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW), which provides matching funds for states to use in providing welfare aid to over 14 million persons.

"The Nassau No-Check Plan" in Nassau County, involving 400 recipients of home relief and aid to families with dependent children, has resulted in "a complete elimination of duplicate payments and lost and stolen checks," according to an HEW report.

The aim of the experiment that began last February is to improve the payment system; eliminate lost, stolen and fraudulently endorsed checks, and reduce the cost of mailing checks.

"The banks have shown both their support and approval of the system, primarily because it is safer than the traditional system and removes the possibility of fraud," the report said. "The program appears to have brought a clearer understanding by the banks of public welfare and people who are its recipients."

Pennsylvania welfare officials were quoted by Business Week, a magazine for businessmen, as saying statewide use of the plan could result in an $11 million saving annually, both from keeping welfare checks away from thieves and freeing welfare workers' from the paperwork of making duplicate payments to recipients.

Unlike the Nassau County plan, which distributes cash to recipients, the experiment in Philadelphia's Ridge area ghetto distributes checks which recipients may cash upon receipt.

In both cases, the recipient must display a laminated identification card bearing his photograph. Expansion of each experiment is planned.

Statistics on welfare check thefts nationally have not been compiled, Guckenhimer said. But in Pennsylvania, according to Business Week, in January, 1971, study revealed that one of every eight checks issued by the Philadelphia welfare agency failed to reach its destination.

Transit system begins

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — "This is the end of the automobile, for me," said Shirley Fisk.

Mrs. Fisk left her car in the garage Monday and went to work on the first train that kicked off the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) for public use.

Her reaction to the $1.4 billion mass transit system that eventually will link both sides of San Francisco Bay and suburbs was exactly what BART officials hope to find generally so that the operation can pay its way, unclog freeways and help reduce smog.

As the first of the sleek, speedy computer-controlled trains glided into Lake Merritt Station, William J. Ronan, chairman of the New York State Metropolitan Transportation Authority, said: "I think it's an excellent operation."

"We should be so lucky. Everything's tops," was the reaction of George Krambles, operating manager of Chicago Transit Authority.

Minor delays were reported during part of the day when one train broke down and had to be pulled out of service.

Pilot aces group sets reunion

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Men who won fame for their proficiency in killing each other will exchange champagne toasts this weekend, at the 11th annual reunion of the American Fighter Aces Association.

Six fighter pilot aces from Japan who fought in World War II will attend the reunion, according to Tex Hill, the aces association chairman.

Hill, who shot down 18 Japanese war planes himself, said he is honored his former enemies from Japan have accepted the invitation.

"Since the hostilities ceased, many fast friendships have been made between Americans and Japanese," he said.

"I shot down 18 and a quarter confirmed victories of the Japanese. There was nothing personal. We were professionals. They were just a target," said Hill, a native of San Antonio and a consultant on Far East affairs.

"Those guys who fought against each other can now sit down and compare notes," he said. "It'll just be interesting. Hell, they didn't want to be up there any more than we did."

Hill said besides the six Japanese and about 100 U.S. aces expected, his group has also invited aces from Australia, Canada, Britain, Mexico and Germany.

"All of the great guys are going to be here," he said, including "Garry" Gabriski of New York, the greatest living ace with 38 kills to his credit in World War II and Korea.

Untreated Negroes died of syphilis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least 28 black men with syphilis who were allowed to go untreated in an experiment in Alabama subsequently died of the disease, according to a study by doctors involved.

The Public Health Service, under whose auspices the syphilis research was conducted, made public the doctors' findings which were first published in the Journal of Chronic Diseases in early 1955.

Reporting on autopsies on a group of the 431 black men involved in the experiment, the doctors said:

"In 28 (30.4 per cent) of the 92 syphilitic patients examined at autopsy, syphilitic involvement of the cardiovascular or the central nervous system was established as the primary cause of death."

If that rate of deaths were projected to cover the entire number of men whose syphilis was allowed to go untreated, the total would be over 100.

The syphilis study, aimed at determining how the disease affected various body functions, was started 40 years ago at Tuskegee in predominantly black Macon County, Ala.

A 1946 report on the study said that the men with uncontrolled syphilis suffered a number of side effects including hardening of the arteries, abnormal lymph nodes and loss of vision.

"It is clear," that report said, "that in the absence of treatment the person infected with syphilis, even though he may escape the late crippling manifestations, which lead directly to death, still runs a considerable risk of having his life span shortened by other fatal conditions."

"In addition, he can expect to experience more manifestations of ill health of all kinds than do uninfected persons."

Cadillac presents the class of '73

Clearly, these are the most magnificent Cadillacs ever built. Not only for what you can see—the bold new exteriors and the plush new interiors—but as much for what you can't see.

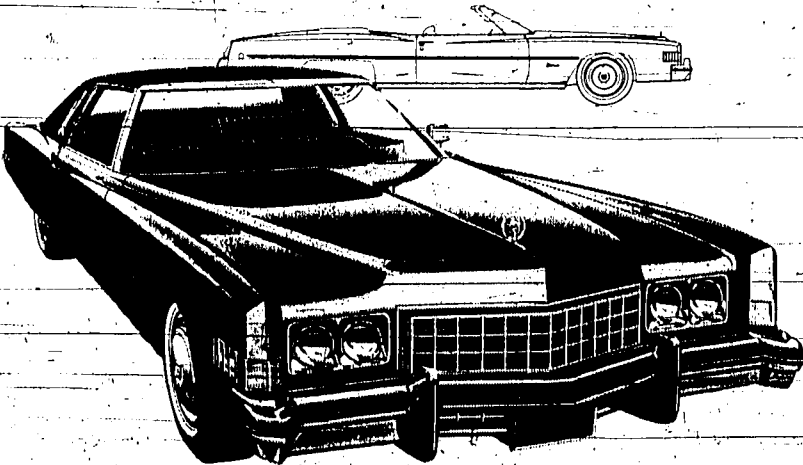

You see here the new Sedan deVille, Eldorado Coupe and Eldorado Convertible. You don't see the six other new Cadillacs (more models than all other U.S. luxury cars have combined).

You see here the striking new styling outside—even more elegant for '73. You don't see the hundreds of innovations and refinements inside. To add new comfort and convenience.

And you don't see the many new niceties you may add. Like a lighted vanity mirror. A theft-deterrent system and steel-belted radial tires.

Clearly, you never had so many good reasons to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer, Cadillac Motor Car Division. The leadership shows.

3 automakers reluctant on price hike evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Big 3 automakers have been reluctant about turning over to the government evidence to support their requests for authority to raise prices on 1973 models, a Transportation Department official said Tuesday.

James M. Boggs, transportation undersecretary, testified at a Price Commission hearing on pricing policies of the auto industry.

He said there had been "no response at all from the three leading U.S. manufacturers" to a department letter asking how much cars would go up in price and weight over the next two years in order to meet government-required bumper standards.

But he said "our information from the auto industry has been very sketchy, if not nonexistent," on the costs required to add the equipment on the cars.

All the manufacturers have claimed the 1973 price hikes are justified because of the added costs from installing the government-required equipment.

Candidate to reveal mystery

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — American Independent party presidential candidate John Schmitz will reveal Thursday the name of the "mysterious boss" involved in the shooting of George Wallace.

Schmitz, a lame-duck Republican congressman from California, told a news conference Monday the alleged cohort had "died in a mysterious death" since the shooting at Laurel, Md., in May which has left the founder of the American Independent party paralyzed from the waist down.

He refused to name the "boss," however, until a news conference Thursday in Washington.

"I'm holding a press conference on Thursday to talk about a situation I alluded to in my Milwaukee speech, pointing out that Bremer didn't act alone," Schmitz said.

"He had a mysterious, ah, what would you call it...boss type who, interestingly enough, died in a mysterious death between George Wallace's assassination attempt and now," Schmitz said.

Schmitz, campaigning here even though his name does not appear on Maine's election ballot and write-in votes will not count because he has no presidential electors in Maine, accused the major television networks and wire services of conspiring against his campaign.

Embezzles from clinic

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge W.E. Smith has continued for three weeks the case of a Caldwell woman who pleaded guilty to embezzling some $150 from a Boise clinic.

Barbara Ann Friedley, 34, Caldwell, originally was accused of taking more than $12,000 while serving as office manager of the woman's clinic, and she pleaded innocent to that charge.

Monday, she pleaded guilty to an amended complaint which alleged only that she embezzled a sum in excess of $150.

Hailey water charge queried

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Explanation for a $200 water hook-up charge was sought Monday night before the Hailey City Council.

Thomas Richmond, Ketchum contractor, said the charge for the new hookup "seemed excessive" and constituted a "duplication of costs" because he had a backhoe available on the building site to install water and sewer hookups.

Councilman Claude Porter said that the charge had been raised from $80, through an ordinance passed in April, on the advice of Farmers Home Administration officials and the city engineer.

The adjusted fee for new water hookups was needed to gain sufficient revenue to pay bond costs for the new water line from Indian Springs, Porter said.

In other action, Mayor Lawrence Heagle promised council cooperation with a Hailey Chamber of Commerce committee, formed to seek improvement of Main Street.

Committee representative, John Szafryk said the group will explore state aid for repaving the street. If the aid is obtained, he said, then funding of new sidewalks, curbs and gutters would be a local responsibility, he said.

Councilman Neal Nyblad said a recent proposal for a local improvement district for sidewalks, curbs and gutters had died from lack of support. He said that the feeling among merchants was that they would make the improvements themselves, but Nyblad said the idea "didn't go any further."

However, the councilman said they had not as yet received "any turn-downs" on a resubmittal of the L.I.D. petition to the merchants. Under the proposal, improvements would be made from the museum corner, south on both sides of the street, to the Wolf's American corner, he said.

Costs for the project, including nine-foot sidewalks on Main and six-foot sidewalks to the alley line, would be $34 a front foot or $71,000 for the entire project, Nyblad said.

During Monday's meeting, the council also informed Gary McStay, co-owner of Sun Valley Red-Mix, that no action had been taken to adopt a hardship provision to the city planning and zoning ordinance.

On July 6, the council ordered the company to move its concrete plant, which is about 23 feet onto Maple Street, within 120 days. However, McStay said that because the plant is a non-conforming use, it cannot be moved or re-built in another area.

At the following meeting, the council said it intended to pass the new provision which would allow the company to petition for a variance to move the encroaching plant.

The council also adopted two recommendations from the planning and zoning commission, which denied permission to Bird's Funeral Home to build a new chapel in a limited residential area and which limited the placement of a temporary office next to Mountain Bell to one year.

Set a public hearing on the addition of a flood hazard district to the planning and zoning ordinance for Sept. 25.

Rupert to replace irrigation pipe

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — In a special session Tuesday evening, the Rupert City Council took action on the replacement of irrigation pipe in the Freemont Subdivision.

City Engineer Ron Klebe told the council that 5,700 feet of deteriorated wooden and clay-tile pipe in the northwestern subdivision could be replaced by 18-inch concrete main line pipe at an approximate cost of $14,605.

He said that replacement of connections to the main line from each of the lots in the area would cost about $48 per connection.

Councilman William Strasser said the $13,000 balance in the irrigation budget is insufficient to cover the project's entire cost. He suggested that work begin immediately with the understanding that it be completed next year under the new budget.

Mayor Wendell Johnson also said the pipe replacement be on a repair basis to allow flexibility in drawing on the irrigation funds.

Both suggestions were approved by the council.

City officials voted to solicit bids on the hot mix paving of 18th Street in the Big Valley Addition and 17th Street in the Grandview Subdivision. The council initially discussed preceeding with the 17th Street surfacing on an emergency basis to assure the Grandview residents of a hard surfaced outlet this winter. The three east-west streets in the subdivision have been prepared for resurfacing, but all cannot be completed before winter, Klebe said.

The present stripped condition of the streets, according to Councilman Strasser, will result in a "very muddy situation" as winter precipitation will be caught on the street rather than drained off.

The council considered getting cost quotes from surfacing contractors to expedite the 17th Street paving under emergency conditions, but Councilmen Bill Whitton questioned the legality of circumventing formal bids.

His question was upheld when City Atty. Donald Chisholm said the situation might not qualify under the emergency section of the Idaho Code.

The council also approved a motion that bids be accepted for playground equipment for Big Valley Park.

Wendell teachers confer

WENDELL — The negotiating teams from the Wendell School board and the Hub City Wendell Teachers Association agreed again on subjects negotiable Tuesday night.

Earlier this summer a procedural agreement had been reached by the two teams, but the agreement was not ratified by all the teachers in the association. They asked for clarification of some areas and some additions, according to Supt. Lawrence LaRue.

LaRue did not say what the requested changes involved. After this new agreement is ratified by both the remaining members of the School board and the entire teachers' association, the topics will be released, LaRue said.

The superintendent said nothing has been negotiated as yet, and the procedural agreement is only to determine what will be negotiable. Salaries will be negotiable, LaRue said, but teacher participation in planning curriculum is not among procedural points.

Health district studies new site

TWIN FALLS — The South Central Health district reportedly is considering other possible quarters along with the ex-State TB hospital at Gooding.

Dr. Wayne Carter, director of the health district, said in Twin Falls the district must vacate its present quarters at the Twin Falls City Hall by the beginning of 1974.

Carter said the health board is considering building a new building, having someone else build a new building to lease to the district, utilizing existing county or city building space or a lease-purchase arrangement.

"The TB hospital has one definite drawback," Carter said Tuesday, "we'd still need a Twin Falls office."

He said one third of the district's clerical staff, plus 40 per cent of its nurses and environmentalists would be in Twin Falls even if the remainder of the facilities were to move to the Gooding site.

"That's not a very reasonable thing," he said. He said the decision to vacate city hall in 1974, after over 20 years of occupancy, had been agreed to because the city needs the space.

In a related development Tuesday, the State Land Board called for negotiations with the South Central Health District for lease of a portion of the Gooding hospital.

But the board stipulated that the health district would be responsible for maintenance of the facility, now costing the state about $40,000 a year.

Richfield accepts auditing report

RICHFIELD — The Richfield City Council met in regular session Tuesday night and approved the audit of city books for 1971.

Mrs. Helen Cannon, Twin Falls CPA, met with the council and explained the audit. She reported the books to be correct, and the report was accepted by the council, according to Mrs. Ruth Swainston, city clerk.

Mayor C. W. Ward reported that the council approved revised plans for the sewer system at a special meeting

Aug. 31. Ward reports that the JUB engineering firm in Twin Falls is working toward completing all necessary planning by Sept. 28 so that bids for the sewer construction can be called for then.

"Progress on the sewer was delayed when the city was unable to purchase access land necessary for the laying of the pipes leading to the lagoon site. Plans had to be revised and adopted by the council before any further action could be taken."

Benefit dance set Friday at Richfield

RICHFIELD — A benefit dance for Don Millican is slated for Friday night by the Richfield High School student body.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. Friday at the Richfield High School gymnasium. The public is invited. Admission to the dance and refreshments will be by donation. Funds will be used to help defray cost for Millican's hospital treatment.

Millican, 16, is a Richfield High School junior who was severely burned in an auto accident north of Richfield Friday as he was returning home from the first high school football game of the season. He is a member of the football team.

Utah couple hurt near Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Two persons received minor injuries in an auto accident a mile north of Shoshone on U.S. Highway 93 Tuesday afternoon.

Injured were Mr. and Mrs. James Pendray, Salt Lake City. Deputy Sheriff Bill Anderson said Pendray was traveling south on U.S. 93 and Mrs. Mary E. Flavel, Shoshone, was northbound.

Mrs. Flavel turned into the Shoshone dump yard road, entering the path of the Pendray vehicle, Anderson said.

The Pendray car hit Mrs. Flavel's car broadside. She was not injured. Damage to each car was estimated at more than $600.

Mr. and Mrs. Pendray sustained bruises in the accident.

US to control potato imports from Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced Tuesday that a recent finding of the U.S. Tariff Commission will control importation of potato granules from Canada into the U.S. at less than their fair market value.

"As a result of the determination by the commission," Church said, "imports of potato granules from Canada will be subject to a special dumping duty, when sold in the United States at less than their fair market value."

Church, a senior member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and head of its subcommittee dealing with U.S.-Canadian relations, also said that with the entry of Britain into the European Common Market, Canada will be looking to the United States to sell more of her potato granules as British trade in the commodity fades.

Vo-ed aide meets with Wendell school trustees

WENDELL — Lee Carter, superintendent of industrial arts education from the Idaho Department of Vocational Education, Boise, met with the Wendell School board Monday night.

He explained career education and offered suggestions for courses in industrial arts. Carter said he hopes to see industrial arts offered in every school district in Idaho.

Arlin Dennis, elementary school principal, explained funding, teaching, personnel goals, and objectives of the summer migrant program to the trustees. He said enrollment this summer ranged from 25 to 45 children, which was down from last year.

James Benson, vocational agriculture teacher, told the trustees that 14 Wendell vo-ag students exhibited at the Gooding County Fair, and that they took first in livestock judging at the Twin Falls County Fair.

Members of the Wendell High School Pep Club met with the school board to request that the district pay for a bus to take members to out-of-town games. The district already pays for a pep band bus.

The trustees agreed to alternating the bus between the pep band and students who want to ride the pep bus.

Supt. Lawrence LaRue informed board members there will be a fourth district trustee meeting in Twin Falls Sept. 21, and fall teachers' conferences Oct. 6-7.

Regional airport directors hear feasibility study progress report

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The South Idaho Regional Airport board heard a monthly progress report on a feasibility study Monday night.

George Forscher, chairman of the board, conducted the business meeting and introduced persons attending who have been appointed on the review board.

"The review board includes additional people in the communities besides the airport board to get the people tuned in on what is happening in regard to a regional airport," Forscher explained.

The feasibility study is being made by Barton, Stoddard, Milhollin and Higgins, consulting engineers, Boise. Sam Barton made the report to the regional airport board assisted by Don Anderson.

Barton announced the origin and destination forecast prepared by TAP Corp., economic consultants under subcontract to Barton. Stoddard, Milhollin and Higgins, has been completed and the information is now ready to be reviewed and finalized.

Preliminary environmental factors will be considered for each of the five pre-selected regional airport sites and will serve as a starting point to define the environmental items that should be considered, according to Barton.

About 38 per cent of the questionnaires that were mailed to county commissioners, cities, and chambers of commerce have been returned.

The questionnaires were for the purpose of obtaining information for the establishment of regional airport goals.

The airport board agreed to mail questionnaires the second time to agencies who have failed to return those previously sent.

"We are on schedule with our work plan," said Barton.

Areas in which the consulting firm have been working include data acquisition; review of the characteristics of the study area; review and analysis of aviation conditions; goals, priorities and planning criteria; forecasts; demand capacity analysis; facilities requirements; and environmental study.

Barton reported the work efforts for September will include eight topics.

The company will review status of study efforts with the technical review committee; obtain the remaining data from Twin Falls agencies; prepare cost estimates for the five pre-selected sites; prepare a decision matrix for the selection of a final site; determine the travel time from populated areas to the pre-selected sites; evaluate the possible alignments and cost estimates for an improved access route from I-80N to Joalin Field in Twin Falls; installation of a wind recording machine north of the Snake River Canyon, and projection of cargo demands for the Magic Valley area.

The five preselected airport sites the engineering firm is considering in its study are Joalin Field, the existing Twin Falls City - County Airport, site A-1 between Snake River and I-80 and east of U.S. Highway 93; site A about five miles north of Twin Falls and on the north side of I-80 and east of U.S. Highway 93; site B some 10 miles east of Twin Falls in the Hazelton-Eden area, and a site about five miles south of Shoshone that has not previously been considered.

The time and place for the October meeting will be announced.

Jerome eyes annexation

JEROME — Annexation of a four-acre site for a proposed LDS Church east of Jerome came before the Jerome City Council Monday night.

An ordinance to annex the area was placed on first reading with additional readings scheduled in the next two council meetings.

The annexation proposal came under heavy fire at a previous council meeting when a large delegation of residents from the area voiced objections.

They argued annexation and location of a church in the area would increase traffic in the presently residential area and is not in the best interest of orderly development, land use and planning.

Another annexation matter was aired in a letter from Moore Business Forms, Inc., requesting the city annex 29 acres southwest of Jerome on which they plan to locate a plant. The request was referred to the zoning commission.

A week ago the firm requested rezoning of the property for business, but neglected to request an

S. N. Weeks, council member, announced the city will be forced to close restroom facilities in the city park if vandalism is not stopped.

Shoshone okays fuel contract

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone School board approved a fuel oil bid from Idaho Grange Co-Op at 14.95 cents per gallon, at their Monday night meeting.

The board is considering a proposal for a special athletic advisory board for the district. A request for such a board was made by the three school coaches William Closson, Dan Gillette and Ed Sandy. The board encouraged the coaches to bring any problem cases to the school board for consideration.

A request for a library aide at the elementary school was received. The board recommended that volunteer adult aides be solicited to handle this responsibility.

The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co. requested an easement on the playground north of the elementary school to bury telephone cable. The company representative will be invited to attend the October school board meeting to further discuss the request.

School will be dismissed on Oct. 6 to allow teachers to attend the instructional conferences and two cents per mile was allowed for attendance at the state-wide subject area conferences in Boise.

Approval was given Joe Nishimoto to attend a meeting of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in Salt Lake City Sept. 29 and 30.

Trustees made plans to attend the region four Idaho School Trustees Association meeting in Twin Falls Sept. 21.

Minidoka aides study funding

By DAVID HORSMAN Times-News writer

RUPERT — Minidoka County commissioners heard a report Monday concerning the additional levy necessitated by Gov. Cecil Andrus' holdback in general fund spending.

Doyle Lowder, assistant Minidoka school superintendent, told the commissioners that the state board of education has certified an .877 mill increase in county property taxes, raising the county levy to 9.189 mills and providing an additional $18,560 in local money to offset its state holdback.

Lowder also submitted a request for certification of a $37,000 emergency levy. The requested levy was prompted by the enrollment of 79 more students in the district than in 1971.

Other commission action included the acceptance of a proposal by Fifth District Magistrate Leroy Blacker and youth rehabilitation officer Lynn Call that the county officials meet with Cassia County commissioners and the Idaho Youth Ranch board of directors to discuss a group home for area juveniles.

Call described the home as a short term method of dealing with male and female juveniles who need time for readjustment or who have committed offenses that do not warrant detention or state sponsored rehabilitation. He said youth ranch officials had offered housing and facilities on a cost-for-care basis to the county.

Sanitary landfill requirements were also discussed. The commissioners completed plans to transport a building to the landfill. The building will house the city employee who collects landfill fees.

Jerome's new water pump readied

Longest garbage haul

KAMIAH, Idaho (UPI)—What may be the longest garbage haul in the west has received a 25 per cent increase in the amount of money being paid for it.

Ronald Simmons, owner of the local sanitation plant, received permission from the City Council Monday night to charge the Forest Service an additional 25 per cent for hauling garbage from the Powell Ranger Station to the landfill.

Recently the Forest Service was ordered to stop burying garbage in the forests and to haul it to landfills for disposal.

This city is the nearest accessible community to the Powell station which is located near the Idaho-Montana line 110 miles away.

Jerome installs new water pump

JEROME — Installation of 150-horsepower water pump was completed Monday by Layne Pump Co., Twin Falls. It replaced the 75-horsepower pump that was installed 20 years ago at the city water tower.

The Jerome City Council on June 7 passed an emergency resolution for the purchase of the pump which cost the city $11,721. The new pump is expected to provide more water for the residents of Jerome, needed because of the increase in new housing.

It had been reported at several council meetings that the old pump was unable to meet new demands and was in constant need of repair.

Hansen gets audit

HANSEN — Eugene B. Manwaring, Hart and Manwaring Accountants, Pocatello, attended the Hansen School board meeting last night to present the audit report.

He said the district's financial status is good and the books were in good order.

Repairs for the furnace and boiler in the main building were authorized.

A new bus is ready in Iowa and will be picked up as soon as possible.

One student is involved in the CST vocational program.

The Kimberly-Hansen cooperative classroom project is working harmoniously. The project allows the offering of more subjects.

Applications for a new janitor are being accepted.

Students who do not have early or late classes are being allowed to go home when they are free under an open campus policy. Parents of these students are being notified of the free hours.

The Title I industrial arts program was discussed. It is anticipated that the federal allotment will be received.

School bus routes were discussed as well as a state regulation regarding the pickup of students within one and one half miles of school.

Hagerman board ups admission

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman School board voted Monday night to increase the adult admission charge for basketball games from $1 to $1.25.

The increase is due to pay raise for basketball officials, Supt. Kenneth Black told the board.

The board also reviewed bus routes and decided no changes need be made. The district operates with four buses. The board clarified mileage allowances in the budget for all departments. Instructional mileage and travel time were approved as part of this budget.

Supt. Black announced a trustee meeting will be held Sept. 21 in Twin Falls to discuss 100-per-cent-funding. Officers of high school classes were announced. In the senior class John Mavencamp is president; Gilbert Hafen is vice president; Margee Lage is secretary-treasurer, and Mike Brown, student council representative.

Junior class officers include Kip Allen, president; Tony Zarcone, vice president; Richell Anderson, secretary; Connie Butters, treasurer, and Rhonda Koopman, student council representative.

Sophomore officers are Rex Dalton, president; Doug Hansen, vice president; Mary Caster, secretary; Tenley Holway, treasurer; Chris Grimes, student representative.

MV hospital sets admissions record

TWIN FALLS — The month of August set an all-time record in admissions at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Administrator Irene Oliver told hospital board members Monday night there were 636 persons admitted to the hospital during the month. She said in the 20 years she has been hospital administrator she spent the first 17 worrying about filling the beds and the past three worrying about beds to accommodate the patients.

There are now 128 beds in the hospital, and Mrs. Oliver said on some occasions it was necessary to delay surgeries which were not of an emergency nature so beds would be available. Increases, she said, have been greatest in the past several years in the ear, nose and throat cases, in emergency cases including accidents, and in orthopedic cases.

The electric FURNACE

Those families who want moving air plus the benefits of electric heat can have both with an electric furnace. Some models also provide cooling and air cleaning components which can be included in the original installation or added later. In some cases existing ductwork can be utilized, making the change to electric heat a simple and easy process.

Idaho lists starting lineup for first home game; Dennis has nod at Flanker

MOSCOW — Don Robbins, head football coach for the Idaho Vandals, feels he can settle on a starting lineup as he spends the rest of this week polishing the attack for the season opener Saturday against Ohio University.

In the first meeting between the two schools, Ohio will be coming to Moscow with an opening victory under their belts — after — downing Central Michigan, 20-21, last Saturday.

Robbins said Ross Goddard, an untried sophomore from Idaho Falls, Idaho, would be the quarterback. He will have running backs, Bernie Rembert, a veteran, and Mike Autrey, a 198-pound junior college transfer from Columbia Basin, at the inside positions with Kirk Dennis, a sophomore speedster from Wendell, Idaho, at the flanker position.

Robbins said that, up front, veteran Kevin Ault would start at split-end and Darrell Burfield, another senior veteran from Boise, would be at the tight-end position. The line will be anchored by Ken Muhlbeter, senior co-captain, with Dave Cronch and Bob Van Dune at the guards and Larry Bosma and Larry Warren at the tackles. Veterans also make up the interior line.

The defensive line will have some new faces with Alan Vance at one end and junior college transfer, Alofa, Lue Tuuvaga, at the other. Veteran Mike Newell will be at one tackle and Lloyd Grimsrud, a part-time starter last year, will be at the other. Brian Jacobsen, a sophomore from Honolulu, Hawaii, will get the nod at the noseguard slot. Co-captain Rand-Marques will be at one linebacker spot with Chuck Blanck, another transfer, as his partner.

The defensive secondary has a strong veteran look with Kelly Courage and Rod Maynard at the corners and Steve Hunter and Randy Hall at the safety positions.

Hunter will also do the punting while sophomore Steve Tanner from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, will bring his side-winding foot into action, trying to pick up from the graduating Ricardo Castillo, who was the leading Vandal scorer for the past three years.

Robbins said it should be a tough game, especially with the Bobcats having a win on the board. "We feel that we have a fine football team, possibly as good as last year. However, we are playing a much tougher schedule and we have been hampered by injuries going into this first game. We will be putting an extremely young quarterback into action for the first time and if he can get the job done, we could show the fans some good action. Our defense is strong but not as quick as last season, although we should be heavier up front. Our secondary is composed of veterans and I expect them to do a good job," Robbins said.

"We will spend this week working hard on our game plan for the Bobcats. We will take the scouting report right to the players and then will get down to the fine points of execution for this opener. The spirit of the team is tops and I know that we have two great leaders in Muhlbeter and Marques. It will be a thrill to open at home as the Vandals have not had a home opener in many years. The turf is new, the stadium is new, we have a new scoreboard and all we need now is a packed house. Then the Vandals will try to give the fans an exciting football game," Robbins added.

Coach Bill Hess is a veteran, with 14 years at Ohio, and I know that he will be bringing a tough team with some mighty fine talent. Our scouting reports show Rich Bevy is all that everyone says he is and Juenger is probably one of the nation's finest receivers. We expect trouble and I sincerely hope that the Vandals will be able to handle the Bobcats," Robbins said.

Fish, game department sets public meetings for fishing

Fishing seasons and regulations for 1973 will be the primary subject of the October 16 meeting of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission, reported director Joseph C. Greenley, adding that as usual the meeting is expected to run about three days.

Greenley reminded Idaho sportsmen that although they may be busy with their hunting season plans, he would appreciate receiving comments by mail or relayed to him via any member of the department concerning the subject of fish and fishing. He said that good communications between sportsmen and his office was an absolute necessity if the department is to do the best possible job of managing Idaho's wildlife resources.

Interested sportsmen were also reminded that public meetings will be hosted by the department in late September and early October. At these meetings, the department's proposed fisheries recommendations will be presented, followed by open discussion with department fisheries personnel on hand to answer questions. The meetings are scheduled as follows, all set for 7:30 p.m.

September 26 — Boise — Fish & Game Headquarters 600 South Walnut St.

September 28 — Lewiston — Fish & Game Regional Office 16th and Warner.

October 3 — Twin Falls — Rogerson Hotel.

October 4 — Idaho Falls — Council Chambers, City Bldg.

In addition to the public meetings in the various regions, the Commission will host the usual opening meeting at 1:30 p.m. on the first day of their meeting, October 16.

Variety of Erving's case enters new muddle

Back country elk and deer hunters and the Hun, chukar, quail and grouse shooters should have a big field day this Saturday, September 16, fish and game director Joseph C. Greenley announced today, stressing that care with the use of fire and firearms is everyone's responsibility.

Mornings are cool in late September and elk hunters should make sure that their "warm-up" fires are dead-out before they move on, the director averred, adding that early season storms seldom reach down into the forest litter enough to eliminate the fire hazard.

The director also listed the three primary rules of gun safety, and urged all hunters to follow them religiously:

- (1) Treat every gun as if it were loaded.
- (2) Keep the muzzle of the gun (the business end) pointed in a safe direction.
- (3) Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

Greenley pointed out that quality hunting means a lot more than birds in the bag and meat in the deep freezer, even though Idaho provides a better than average hunting success for a greater variety of game birds and animals than most states. He said that most hunters agree that healthful relaxation in the field, fellowship, and the enjoyment of a living experience in Idaho's beautiful outdoor environment are real values, but impossible to figure in terms of dollars.

Offers swamp Mark Spitz

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Life isn't the same these days for Mark Spitz.

For years Spitz religiously practiced his swimming strokes in long, grueling workouts with little public notice. Then he was ridiculed for not living up to his predictions of greatness in the 1968 Olympic games.

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Julius Erving, who starred for the Virginia Squires last season after two brilliant years at the University of Massachusetts, joined the Atlanta Hawks Tuesday.

Superior Court Judge Ernest G. Tidwell issued a temporary restraining order in Atlanta Tuesday that opened a legal door for the 6-foot-6 Erving.

Erving was playing in the first year of a three-year contract last season when he averaged 27.3 points and 15.7 rebounds for the Squires in the American Basketball Association.

He has been trying to get out of that contract in order to accept a $1 million offer from the Hawks of the National Basketball Association.

In what was really a technical move approved by the Hawks, Judge Tidwell Tuesday restrained the Hawks from not allowing Erving to play with them.

Whether Erving remains a Hawk or returns to the Squires is not really settled and won't be until a final judgement is handed down in a suit Erving has pending against the Squires, charging his contract with the Virginia team was fraudulent.

Erving's contract with Atlanta, signed in April, states he is to play with the Hawks only after his obligation with the Squires ends.

Judge Tidwell ruled Tuesday that Erving's contract with the Squires is "terminated" and that his contract with the Hawks "is now in full force and effect."

The Milwaukee Bucks also have a claim on Erving since, not aware that Atlanta had signed him to a contract, the Bucks made him their first round draft choice when he became eligible for the NBA draft this summer.

Atlanta may have to give up a draft choice and cash to Ketchum mows item 7. Call Terry Campbell, Times-News community correspondent, 788-4638.

Milwaukee before the NBA allows the Hawks to keep Erving.

Robinson, coach still not talking

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Ray Robinson, the U.S. sprint star who was disqualified in the Olympics for failing to show up on time for his race, said Tuesday sprint coach Stan Wright refused to talk to him after apologizing.

"Wright said he was very sorry that he had made a mistake," Robinson told a home town news conference here Tuesday. "But from then on he would come in and wake up my roommate but he never said a word to me."

Robinson, who will attend Florida A&M this year, said he thought Wright might have been confused on the starting time for his race by thinking that 16:15 hours (4:15 p.m.), was actually 6:15 p.m. The sprinter said he hoped to play football at Florida A&M although he doubted he would see much action before the final three games. He said he would also like to go on tour with the U.S. track team to Ghana next summer "if coach Wright does not go on the tour."

Buchanan to battle Ortiz

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former lightweight champion Ken Buchanan of Scotland was named Tuesday to substitute for injured Roberto Duran of Panama against Carlos Ortiz next Wednesday night in a semi-final to the Muhammad Ali-Floyd Patterson main event. Madison Square Garden promoters said that Duran, the world lightweight champion, was suffering from a cold and a stomach disorder and was returning home immediately.

Nerves collide

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many juvenile delinquents and problem children may be suffering from forms of epilepsy which do not cause fits or convulsions and may occur undiagnosed in more than 10 million Americans.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, senior consultant of the Mayo Clinic, writes in Nerves in Collision, published by Pyramid House, that studies show 60 to 70 per cent. of problem children practice abnormal reading on the electroencephalogram, indicating non-convulsive epilepsy.
